Adrian Garcia has the experience, knowledge and integrity to hit the ground running as Harris County's new Sheriff. Adrian enters this office with 23 years of law enforcement experience and six years as a Houston City Councilman. Adrian Garcia is, without a doubt, the person to lead the Sheriff's office.

As a veteran police officer, Adrian Garcia put his life on the line to protect our community. His dedication was recognized by former Houston Mayor Bob Lanier who appointed Adrian to the position of the Houston Police Department's liaison to the Mayor's Anti-Gang Office. In 1999, Adrian was named Director of this anti-gang effort.

Aside from the vital work Adrian did as a Houston police officer, he was retained as a consultant for the U.S. State Department to evaluate law enforcement and policing programs in Central America. He has also repeatedly served as a panelist on Harvard University's Criminal Justice Project.

In short, Adrian Garcia assumes the mantle of Sheriff with a life time of public and law enforcement service behind him and a clear vision for what lies ahead.
